Bailey to Force Designation in Nevada Co.

Mandamus Action by L. L. Mitchell Is Being Prepared

Would Compel County Election Board to Obey Secretary of State

IS FIRST TEST SUIT

Nevada Board Had Voted 2 to 1 to List Bailey as Independent

The Star learned Monday that a mandamus suit was in process of being filed in Nevada county to compel the Nevada county election board to list Carl E. Bailey as a Democrat instead of an Independent in the general election to be held October 18.

The Nevada board listed Bailey as an Independent candidate along with John E. Miller in the race for the U. S. senate seat, ignoring Secretary of State Hall's certification of Bailey as a Democrat, given to Hall by the state democratic committee.

The suit is the first test case in Arkansas. Several county election boards have listed both Bailey and Miller as Independents, Nevada county being one of the several counties to do so.

It was understood the case was being brought in the name of L. L. Mitchell of Prescott, and others.

Whether the case would be heard in Nevada chancery or circuit court could not be learned Monday. In the event of failure in these courts, the case will be taken to the circuit court of appeals in St. Louis. The Star was informed.

The Nevada election commissioners are W. S. Martin, C. B. Andrews and J. K. Prescott. It was understood that Andrew and Prescott voted to list Bailey as an Independent.

Martin, it was understood, contended that Bailey should be listed as a Democrat.

Mail this card before midnight November 20, 1937. No postage

The first direct national count of the unemployed since their problem became acute in 1931 will hinge on the card reproduced above. Every unemployed or partially unemployed worker who can and wants to work is urged to fill out such a card, which will be distributed to 31,000,000 homes by postmen. Additional cards may be had through postmen or postoffices, both of which will collect them for return--postage free--to the National Unemployment Census in Washington. The back of the card contains a personal appeal to workers from President Roosevelt. "Congress directed me to take this census," he says. "If you give me the facts I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it."

Bond Forfeited in Hope Robbery Case

Walter Henderson Fails to Appear in Dr. A. J. Neighbors Case

A $500 bond was ordered forfeited in Hempstead circuit court Monday when Walter Henderson of Hot Springs failed to appear for trial on a charge of robbing the home of Dr. A. J. Neighbors of Hope.

A new warrant was issued for the arrest of Henderson with bond to be set this time at $1,000. Results of other cases:

Milton Smith entered a plea of guilty to assault and battery and was fined $25 and costs.

Joe B. Trotter, Matthew Hendrix and Zeron Smith, all negroes, pleaded guilty to petit larceny for stealing 340 pounds of cotton seed from R. M. Lagrone, Jr.

Trotter was fined $25 and costs. Hendrix and Smith were fined $10 and costs each. Hendrix and Smith were assessed smaller fines because of several days' confinement in jail. Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart said.

Clarence Jones and V. E. Butler, white men, were fined $10 and costs each on charges of fighting and disturbing the peace. The charges were reduced from assault with intent to kill.

In the case of Odie Burchett, negro of Fulton, a defense of insanity was suggested to the court and he was ordered to the state hospital for observation on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart. Burchett is charged with robbing the home of a Fulton negro.

No other cases were heard, the dock being cleared of all cases set for Monday. Court recessed before noon until Tuesday morning when the criminal docket will be resumed.

Municipal court at Hope was not in session Monday. All cases being set for trial Monday of next week.

SHOOTING AT CAMP

Vawter Shot at Rosewood Camp, Dies in Cora Donnell Hospital

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(AP)—W. J. Vawter, 40, chief engineer of the Prescott light plant, was wounded fatally Monday in a shooting scrape several miles south of here.

Sheriff Brad Bright said he was holding Clarence Cavanaugh, Prescott mechanic, in connection with the affair.

Bright said Cavanaugh claimed Vawter shot himself through the right eye in a scuffle over a pistol. A coroner's inquest was to be held Monday afternoon.

Brothers Held

Sheriff Brad Bright told The Star over the telephone from Prescott Monday that he was holding both Clarence and George Cavanaugh of Prescott in connection with the fatal shooting of Vawter. The men are brothers.

Clarence was held in the Prescott jail, while George was held in the Hope jail.

Sheriff Bright said Vawter was shot about 2 a. m. Monday near the Rosewood tourist camp, three miles south of Prescott on paved highway 27.

Vawter died in the Cora Donnell hospital at Prescott three hours later without making a statement.

"He was brought to the hospital unconscious and remained in that condition until death," the sheriff said. Besides the bullet wound through the eye, Vawter had been slashed on the throat with a knife, the sheriff said.

Bright quoted Clarence Cavanaugh as saying the shooting occurred in an automobile near the tourist camp, Cavanaugh claiming that Vawter pulled the gun on him and in pushing it away a shell in the pistol exploded.

Bright said Cavanaugh claimed there had been no argument preceding the shooting. The slaying of Vawter's throat was not explained. The sheriff said that he had not questioned George Cavanaugh, held in Hope, but would do so Monday afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart left Hope for Prescott about noon to aid Sheriff Bright in the investigation.

Supreme Court Holds Jurist "Alone Can't Determine Guilt"

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held Monday that a circuit judge did not have authority to decide the guilt or innocence of a habeas corpus petitioner wanted in another state for felony.

The decision reversed a Washington county circuit decree releasing H. M. Allen, Springdale truck driver, from the custody of Sheriff Herbert Lewis. The supreme court directed that Allen be taken into custody for Kansas authorities on charges of false pretense in connection with the issuance of a $43 check for a truck tire.

Standard Test Said to Be Successful at Depth of 7,200 Feet

Unconfirmed reports from Stamps early Monday said the McKean No. 1 test of the Standard Oil company, drilling at 7,200 feet near Buckner, had been brought in as a producer.

Estimates varied from 500 to 1,500 barrels per day.

Several hundred persons watched the progress of the test over the weekend.

Supreme Court Upholds Right of Hugo Black to Be Justice

Court Rejects Ouster Petitions of Both Levitt and Kelly in Session Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court rejected Monday two petitions challenging Justice Hugo L. Black's eligibility to hold his seat on the high bench.

The court denied motions by Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, who asked the court to determine Black's legal qualifications for the post.

Chief Justice Hughes announced the court's ruling to a packed courtroom. Black himself sat on the bench with his colleagues. Throughout the brief announcement he maintained a solemn demeanor.

The Levitt motion was denied on the ground that it disclosed "no interest upon the part of the petitioner other than that of a citizen and a member of the bar of this court." Such interest was held insufficient to warrant the court's hearing Levitt's challenge.

Regarding the Kelly motion, the court said it was "denied" in view of the action in the Levitt petition.

How About Ducking "Next" Depression

FOR a long time the people of this country had one question which they were constantly asking: "When will the depression end?"

There seems to be general agreement now that the depression is pretty well over. So the old question has been dropped, to be replaced by an equally anxious one: "When will the next depression begin?"

There seems to be no particular confidence anywhere that we have mastered the problem of preventing depressions. We got out of the last one, by hook or crook, and we are now enjoying a fair measure of prosperity. But he would be a rash man who predicted this new-found prosperity will continue indefinitely. So while we have a good thing now, we want to know how long we are going to keep on having it.

FIGURES on industrial production are ordinarily dull reading. But Elmer C. Bratt of Lehigh University has presented some, in the current issue of The Annalist, which indicate that the "prosperity curve" is going to keep on raising for some time yet—possibly for as long as four years.

A business decline, remarks Mr. Bratt, follows a period in which industrial production gets out of adjustment. In good times, production of durable goods—buildings, factory equipment, railroad engines, and so on—tends to exceed the production of consumer goods. Presently there is an oversupply of durable goods as compared with the supply of consumer goods.

The country's need for durable goods is met, workers making them are released, their release causes the demand for consumer goods to fall—and down we go in the unpleasant spiral of a depression.

Right now, continues Mr. Bratt, no such situation is in sight. The country still needs a great many more things in the durable goods bracket. The railroads have only begun to make up for the long period in which they bought little equipment. The construction industry has hardly got started, although the need for new buildings is considerable.

And so on and so on—with the result, according to Mr. Bratt, that we may look forward to several years of rising prosperity before production of the two kinds of goods gets out of balance and sends us downhill again.

ALL of this is very encouraging—as far as it goes. But must we accept the old depression-and prosperity cycle as an immutable law of nature? Is there no way in which we can avoid these disastrous dips into misery and want?

To know that we shan't have a depression for several years is good, but not good enough. It might be a good thing for us to stop thinking about recovery and start thinking about prevention.

Sizing Up WPA

ABOLITION of the Public Works Administration would seem to make some sort of landmark in the slow progress of our long fight against the depression. The PWA was in some ways the most spectacular of the emergency spending agencies; its demise indicates that the emergency is considered by the administration to be pretty well past.

It is generally agreed that PWA has been something of a disappointment—possibly because we expected too much of it in the first place. But in the main it has been a useful agency. Since 1933 it has allotted to non-federal projects upwards of $2,700,000,000, and has created some 661,000,000 man-hours of direct employment and two and one-half times that much indirect employment.

Now that it is out of the picture, we may be able to get a clearer picture of what it did for us—and figure out how we are going to pay for it.

Claim of "Sure Cure" for Cancer Stamps the Man Who Makes It as a Charlatan

This concludes a series of 20 articles in which Dr. Fishbein discusses cancer, its causes and methods of prevention and cure.

(No. 341)

If anyone, either doctor or layman, tells you he can cure cancer every time, he is a charlatan and a swindler. Hardly a month goes by without the announcement that someone has made a significant advance against cancer. As the years pass, however, these cures are never heard of again.

It takes at least five years to test a cancer cure. We know today that the average duration of life of a person with cancer when the cancer is not treated is approximately three years. We know that the duration of life following the application of surgery or the use of radium and the X-ray for cancers of certain forms may be extended as much as 10 or 15 years. The treatment of any considerable number of people with any special method in cancer should show within a period of five years whether or not the method is worth while.

None of the widely exploited methods of treatment of cancer which have been before the public in recent years meets this criterion. There is a gold cure, a lead cure, a vaccine, a ray cure, serums, pastes, ointments, and many others. None of these has as yet been proved to be of any real value.

When the American Association for the Control of Cancer tried some years ago to obtain applicants for a prize to be given to the one who first developed a cure for cancer, 2500 people applied. Not one of the cures offered was worth the paper on which the description of the method was written.

The American Medical Association has a pamphlet called "Cancer Cures and Treatments" with the records of 35 cancer quacks who have offered their methods to the American people since 1900. The list of these men and the description of their methods of work should indicate to anyone the unprincipled character of the cancer quack and his willingness to exploit the sick and the dying.

"Many of these quacks claim that their methods will not work if the patient has previously had surgery or radium. Thus they do harm by selling not only a worthless treatment of their own but by preventing the use of a scientific treatment in the hands of others."

Of all the ghouls who feed on the bodies of the dead and the dying, cancer quacks are the most unprincipled and the most vicious.

Your Children

Cripple Needs Help to Forget Infirmary

A mother did a wise thing, before school began. She went to see the teacher and explained her problem. It concerned her little boy who had had two fingers of his hand removed as the result of an accident.

"Could you tell the children not to notice it?" she asked.

"But," replied the teacher, "Teddy will be there and he will hear it all." Then she, herself, had an idea. "You might bring Teddy in the afternoon," she suggested. "That will give me time to get the co-operation of the other children."

It was agreed on, and that afternoon Teddy went to school.

In the meantime Miss Hite had spoken this way to her small charges: "A little boy was riding in an automobile with his mother and daddy one day. A man ran into them with his car and everybody was hurt. The little boy was badly cut with glass. His hand was so terribly hurt that he had to have part of it taken off. He feels pretty bad about it, just as any of you would feel if you lost your fingers. He is afraid that cruel people will talk about it and stare at him. What do you think of such people as that?"

Bad Boys Make Good

The tots looked at her, and then they all began to talk at once. "My mama says it isn't nice to notice such things," said one. "I'm glad I never got hurt," said another. "The way to do is just pretend," said one philosopher gravely.

"Well, children, this little boy is coming to school today," said Miss White. "He couldn't get here this morning. When he comes, let us be nice to him than those other impolite people have been. Not see his hand at his eyes and keep our own eyes off his poor little hand? Looking is as bad as talking, and he will notice if we ever so much as glance at his hand. What had we better do?"

"I won't look. I'll just, just smile at him," said Dorothy. "And all the Dorotheas agreed. So did most of the boys. But it was the snapping eyes of the mischievous ones that Miss White was watching. Two or three boys, she had already spotted as little rascals. They could make Teddy's first few days very miserable. "What do you think, Peter?"

Six-year Peter squirmed. "Oh, I—

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

Record of Mutinies Is Thrilling Book.

From the time when the first Phoenician trading vessel went groping across the Mediterranean, the sailor has had a hard life. Every so often he has risen in mutiny against his lot—thereby contributing to the race's annals some of their most bloody and exciting chapters.

Irvin Anthony reviews the long history of mutiny in a new book, "Revolt at Sea" (Putnam: $3). It is an engrossing story.

Mutiny has been fomented, on occasion, by disgruntled officers. Mr. Anthony cites the historic mutinies which Magellan and Drake had to face, and the tempest created by a midshipman on the U. S. Navy's brig Somers. At times it has been a blind protest against hard living and hard driving—as in the case which led the famous clipper ship captain, "Bully" Waterman, into the hands of the San Francisco vigilance committee. At times an entire fleet has mutinied.

CASE OF CHARACTER
PUSCHILLA PIERCE—heroine, young woman attorney.
AMY KERR—Pierce's roommate and murderess's victim.
JIM KERRIGAN—Cilly's fiancé.
HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's strange visitor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday, Cilly bluffs Mrs. Hunter, who confesses that her husband is not a cripple but instead feigned paralysis in an accident to collect $50,000 from a hit-and-run driver.

CHAPTER XXIII
LONG before dawn on Thursday the rain started; by 9 o'clock it had settled to a dismal, depressing downpour. Alone in her apartment, Cilly shivered, not so much from the cold as from the penetrating gloom. Though she could not foresee it, this was to be the most eventful day of her life; perhaps it was the premonition which provoked this quivering of her nerves. However, she could not know that. She thought it was a good day for the blues, and would have welcomed the happy release of work at the office. But there were other things which to attend.

Most of all, she had to see Sergeant Dolan, even if it meant waiting at police headquarters all day. They could be no more desolate than her own rooms, and not nearly as lonely.

After a quick breakfast, she put on a warm woolen dress, one which had been held over from the previous winter pending the emergency of just such a day as this. Then, fortified against the elements by a long raincoat and waterproof hat, she ventured downtown.

It was not quite 10 o'clock when she reached police headquarters. A youthful officer ushered her into a small ante-room off the same corridor as the meeting room which had held the investigation the day before. Sergeant Dolan, the officer explained, was busy for the moment, but would see her shortly.

She sat down to wait. The door into the corridor was left open, so that she could watch those who passed by. Beyond the door, she heard a woman sobbing, and the low murmur of a man's voice offering reassuring comfort. There was something familiar in the voice, low-pitched though it was. She watched the door for their approach. The woman was making an effort to control herself now; the sobs ceased, only the sharp intake of steady breaths was audible. They passed the door, directly in line of Cilly's vision. She sat up suddenly.

The man was Harvey Ames! And the woman who leaned against him, her face hidden in one of his voluminous handkerchiefs, was the one who had fled the Bayview Apartments two days before . . . Mrs. Wheeler!

CILLY walked to the door and stared after them. There was something gently pathetic in their attitude, and she felt a warmth of sympathy toward them, despite the knowledge that they had defied the conventions.

"Good morning, Miss Pierce!" Cilly turned abruptly to face Sergeant Dolan.

"Been waiting for me long?" he asked. His voice was matter-of-fact and brusque; Cilly thought it lacked the rather cordial friendliness of other occasions. But perhaps she imagined that. He led the way back into the small ante-room, shutting the door behind him. "We can talk in here as well as any place," he observed.

"I see you've located Mrs. Wheeler?" Cilly mentioned. She resumed the same chair she had occupied these several minutes.

"Yes, Ames brought her in this morning," Dolan sat down opposite her. "The old story. Ames and his wife haven't hit it off for years, and Mrs. Wheeler's the other woman. Ames has children, and he's fearful of the scandal. I feel sort of sorry for them. . . ."

"I'm glad to find you so understanding this morning, sergeant," Cilly remarked.

"What do you mean?"

"I hope you'll be as kindly disposed to me."

"Any reason why I shouldn't be?"

"Yes. You believed what Mr. Corbett said about me yesterday."

"Did I?"

"It wasn't the truth, Sergeant Dolan. Please believe that. I went across the street with a definite idea in mind—to get up on the roof and see what was going on in the Bayview. I had to ring somebody's doorbell in order to gain admittance to the house, and Corbett was the first name that popped into my head. I didn't go to call on them, but Mr. Corbett, was feeling . . . a little genial, you might say. He met me in the hall, and insisted on my stopping in for a drink—which I didn't finish, incidentally. When I insisted on leaving, he seemed a little disappointed. Perhaps I wounded his vanity in some way. . . ."

However, I went up on the roof to watch the people in our house, and what I told you about Mr. Hunter is absolutely true."

DOLAN was looking out of the window thoughtfully.

"Well," he said, "I've already started a little investigation on Hunter. Don't think that I wasn't going to consider it. Matter of fact, I guess I'd take your word any day against Corbett's, Miss Pierce."

"Thank you, sergeant. You know this case means a great deal to me, and you know that I'll do anything I can to disprove the theory you're working on."

Dolan turned his gaze to Cilly. "I'm sorry you feel that way," he said. "We all make mistakes, you know, and I think you're making a tremendous one in keeping faith with this Kerr. He's not worth it."

Cilly stiffened. "I still prefer to be the judge of that, Sergeant Dolan," she said quietly. "In the meantime, however, we have two new suspects: Harvey Ames and Hunter."

"Oh, they're not on the up and up, perhaps, but I don't think you can tie them to the murder. I'll admit both possibilities. And believe me, we'll check these new angles thoroughly. But I'm still looking for Kerr. I've got a lighter case against him than against either of the other two."

Cilly sighed. "I won't argue with you on that any more," she said. "I know that Jim will be back, but I can't expect you to feel the same way I do. That's not what I came to talk about today."

"What's new now?"

"It's about Hunter. I took it upon myself to call on Mrs. Hunter yesterday when I knew her husband was up on the roof. I thought I could wring the truth from her."

"Did you?"

"Yes," Cilly repeated the story which the woman had told her. Dolan listened attentively. When she finished, he looked at her quizzically.

"What was this fellow they hooked?" he asked. "Did she tell you his name?"

Cilly shook her head. "No, I didn't ask her. That will be simple to find out, if you wish to question Mr. Hunter."

Dolan smiled. "You'll have to be a little more thorough before you qualify for police work, Miss Pierce," he admonished. "We found out yesterday afternoon, I drove the car that knocked Hunter down. It was young Billy Harmon, the brother of that girl the Hutchins fellow is interested in."

Cilly's eyes widened in surprise. "What a small world this case involves," she murmured thoughtfully.

The British fleet at Spithead was utterly paralyzed, during the Napoleonic wars, by a mutiny remarkably like a modern sidown strike. The great German mutiny which helped to end the World War is still a matter of recent memory.

Most mutinies, however, have been stupid and pointless. They have caused a good deal of blood to be shed and have led to innumerable hangings. Mr. Anthony has dug up some remarkably gory examples, and some of his chapters are as exciting and as melodramatic as anything you would care to read.

All in all, an extremely readable book. Apartments in London are called flats.

To each one is given a marble to carve for the wall; A stone that is needed to heighten the beauty of all; And only his soul has the magic to give it grace; And only his hands have the cunning to put it in place. Yes, the task that is given to each one, no other can do; So the errand is waiting; it has waited through ages for you. And now you appear, and the hushed ones are turning their gaze, To see what you do with your chance in the chamber of days. Selected.

The John Cain chapter D. A. R. will meet at the home of Mrs. Chas. Haynes on Wednesday, October 13, with a one o'clock luncheon.

Mrs. Mary Middlebrooks is visiting in Little Rock, the guest of her daughter, Miss Edna Middlebrooks.

The many friends of Mrs. Tully Henry will be pleased to know that she is improving following a major operation at Julia Chester hospital.

Mrs. Mildred Betts of Camden was a week-end visitor to relatives in Hope and Enmet.

Mrs. Herbert Lowellen underwent a tonsil operation at Julia Chester hospital Monday morning. Her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Mrs. D. H. Lipscomb, Miss Maude Lipscomb, Miss Jack Porter, Mrs. G. B. Morris, Miss Rosa Harris, Mrs. E. F. McFaddin and Mrs. C. Cook were among the Hope people attending the Centennial program in Washington on Sunday.

Miss Mary Jones spent Sunday in Texarkana, visiting with relatives and friends.

John G. Williams of Dallas, Texas, is the guest of his mother, Mrs. J. G. Williams of this city.

New Northern Star Revealed in Hollywood's Film Heaven

HOLLYWOOD.—When Sigrid Gurie met Samuel Goldwyn at a party in London, he asked if she would like to work in the movies and she said "No, thanks."

A year ago Miss Gurie came to America with a party of Norwegian friends. They were tourists purely; couldn't even get into a studio.

She called Mr. Goldwyn. He said sure, come right out, and while she was about it she might like to take a screen test. Two days later she signed a contract.

Miss Gurie was not a great European star. She appeared in three plays in her native Oslo. Her parents did not want her to undergo the work and worries of an acting career.

They sent her to girls' schools in France and Belgium, and one year to an art school in London. Also she has studied architecture a bit. Norwegian

Glare Killed by Polarized Light

New Lamp Eliminates Glare Commonly Blamed on Glazed Paper

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

BOSTON.—There's a new desk lamp in a laboratory here and it gives no glare. It's the only lamp of its kind. It uses polarized light, a new type of ray. Polarized light is in all kinds of light—sun, moon, star or artificial. But to get it you have to filter the right rays, cut off the glaring ones. Until now there never has been a material to filter enough polarized light to make a reading lamp.

The window of this new lamp is a sheet of Polaroid, made of quinine and cadine crystals, clear as glass, thin as paper. It was invented by Edward Land and is made at the Land-Wheelwright Laboratories here in sheets large enough to fit the biggest searchlight.

This new lamp has exploded another popular belief—that glazed paper causes more glare on the eyes than dull paper. Glare, it seems, is innocent. The whole business depends on the type of rays in light. And the polarizing material filters out the rays that cause glare, making print stand out in sharp detail and in color.

With salt and pepper, moisten with chicken stock and cook till the rice is soft, adding enough stock to keep it moist. When done put in hot earthenware casserole and garnish with pimientos fried in oil, cooked asparagus tips, cooked peas, and a sprinkling of chopped parsley.

Yolanda the Glamorous

Yolanda, the glamorous Queen of Bubble Dance, will visit Hope on the evening of Tuesday, October 12 and accompanied by her entourage of eighty people traveling on a fleet of thirty-five huge cars, trucks and busses will appear for one performance only at lot just beyond old Garland school at West Sixth street. While press agent adjectives may be ignored, the fact remains that reports and reviews from other cities say the show is truly "magnificent" and is undoubtedly the most massive attraction of its kind ever to appear under canvas. A huge tent recently purchased houses the show and provides comfortable seats for nearly 5,000.

Nothing like this show has ever been presented to the American public under canvas and when one considers the admission prices charged by this popular organization they cannot help but marvel. Ladies, accompanied by one paid adult admission, will be admitted to the performance absolutely free. Above is pictured a small group of the now famous Billroy Beauty Chorus. The big tent will be pitched at lot just beyond old Garland school at West Sixth St. The doors will open the evening of the performance at 7:15 with the Overture by the Palais Royal Orchestra. "The hottest music since Nero fiddled," at 7:30. A band new three act musical farce interspersed with fifteen vaudeville acts and "so many girls you can't count 'em all" will be presented during the evening's entertainment.

Edw. G. Robinson

As the "brains" behind the prize fight racket, Edward G. Robinson has the strongest role of his film career since "Little Caesar." He's the toughest guy along the Main Stem, whose one failing was falling for Bette Davis, his co-star, in "Kid Galahad" the Warner Bros. picture showing at the New Theater Monday.

and the time finally came. Everyone at the studio is raving about her performance.

Her full name is Sigrid Gurie Haukelid. She is 23, has nice architecture, medium brown hair and blue eyes. Her hands are long. She uses a trace of lipstick, no other makeup. She never uses perfume, and actually dislikes jewels and furs. "My mother," she said, "gave me once a beautiful silver fox set, but I just cannot wear it. A pearl necklace, too. I have never had it on. It is funny! I like to look at jewels, in my hands, but not to wear them."

She confesses to a liking for evening gowns, but by day Miss Gurie wears neither hat, coat nor gloves. Sometimes she comes to the studio in her car, which she likes to drive fast, and sometimes she comes in a public bus. Her father read of this and cabled her $1000 to buy a car.

"I am perhaps the only Norwegian who can't ski well, or skate," she said. "But I do ride well; that is my sport. In Norway riding is quite a luxury. You are taught by cavalry officers and you wear proudly the badges they give for hunting and hurdlings and equitation."

She likes to dance, but can't endure jazz music at other times. Up to now she has been forbidden to go to parties, but doesn't care for them anyway. Doesn't smoke or drink. Fortunately, one thing she does enjoy is acting.

WE, the undersigned, members of the Democratic Central Committee of Sebastian County Arkansas, with to say that we find that, under the laws of the State of Arkansas, Sections 3746, 3748 and 3749 of Crawford & Moses' Digest, there is no authority for the nomination of a candidate for United States Senator by the Democratic State Committee, and we believe that the recent attempt of the Democratic State Committee to nominate Carl Bailey was not only against the expressed declaration of the last Democratic State Convention, but was contrary to the laws of the State of Arkansas, and therefore void. We do not believe that this action on the part of the State Committee is binding on the Democratic voters and we wish to assure the Democratic voters of this County that, in our opinion, they have a right to vote against the nominee of the State Committee without violating any party rule, and we will not treat any Democratic voter who sees fit to vote against this committee nominee as a bolter and will not attempt to bar any such voter from any future Democratic primary election; nor will we refuse a place to anyone as a Democrat on any ticket or ballot in any Democratic election hereafter, if a candidate.

Star Dust

By LEONARD ELLIS

E. B. Smith, editor of the De Queen Daily Citizen and writer of Grid, extends congratulations to the Bobcats in winning over the Leopards last Thursday and wishes the Hope team success during the balance of the season.

We are proud to reproduce Mr. Smith's article and in return we want to wish the Leopards smooth sailing during the balance of their grid campaign.

Mr. Smith's article follows:

"There no longer is room for doubt but the Hope Bobcats of 1937 are a better football team than the De Queen Leopards. Grid suspected it might be true, but he was not quite prepared for so decisive a demonstration. Fortunately we made no prediction concerning the outcome and his prestige as a prophet, acquired on the Hope-De Queen game of 1936, remains unimpaired.

"De Queen has no alibi and no apologies. We simply were up against too much weight and too much Vaseo Bright, a combination of handiwork to forward pass and defense of the Leopards which they could not overcome. The Leopards also quite recently suffered from an attack of writers, superinduced no doubt by the reputation of the Bobcats, which made the task of the Bobcats easier. We do not mean to imply that the Bobcats would not have won anyway, even had the morale of the Leopards been up to par.

"As for Hope's advantage in weight and possession of the forward pass, there really was little to choose between the teams. Both are well equipped. Don't nurse any delusions on the score. The attack of the Leopards was superior to that of the Bobcats, but they didn't have much opportunity to use it, being most of the time on the defensive. Also the offensive of the Leopards, which consisted of repeated bombing attempts of the opposition, failed to result in almost exclusively to a half-power home football, with which they really could get the job done.

"So Grid extends congratulations to the Bobcats. They have proved themselves masters of the Leopards. We are proud of them as a Southwest Arkansas team, and would delight to see them continue their onward march to the state championship.

"But we warn them now to watch out for the Leopards in 1938.

"For the most part it was an orderly crowd, with no sign of ill feeling between Hope and De Queen adherents. There was a light, or more light in the De Queen stand, but it was not caused by partisanship over the game, and none of the belligerents was from Hope.

"The advancing of the De Queen colors and the national colors, and a drill with Hope colors, executed by the De Queen pep squad to martial music by the De Queen band between halves, was well done, and drew voluminous rounds of applause from both Hope and De Queen fans, and both Hope and De Queen fans.

Bobcats to Invade Jonesboro Friday

Will Be Second Conference Battle of Year for Hope Team

JONESBORO, Ark. — Following two straight defeats by non-conference opponents, the Jonesboro high school Golden Hurricane will attempt to break its losing streak here Friday night, meeting the Hope high school Bobcats in their second conference action of the year.

Coch. Lowell Manning's crew is largely made up of seven material which has largely been attributed to both defeats. Jonesboro opened the season here with a 31 to 12 decision over Marion on Sept. 12.

The Golden Gang will probably have the Hope without the services of Mutt Anderson, center, left tackle and who suffered a broken finger in practice last week. Several other players are suffering minor injuries.

Robert Black of Jonesboro will start at right end with George McChesney at Johnnie Osment getting the call at the other flank. Fontaine Dierker and Cecil Dierker will probably start the starting tackle posts with Paul McCarty and Kenner Rhea at guard and A. G. Whidden at center.

The Golden Hurricane backfield is made up of three players: Ed. W. H. Hines, fullback, and Willard Tiley, halfback. Washburn Dierker will start at the other wing, back with Lloyd Carey calling signals.

Jonesboro's forward wall will average about 140 pounds with the entire club averaging 140 pounds. Dierker, Whidden and Rhea are the only line veterans while Carey, Tiley and Hines are all freshmen.

This week Manning will send his squad through stiff drill in preparation for the invasion of the Bobcats and hopes to have his charges in good physical condition.

The Golden Hurricane use double wing-back and short punt offensive formations.

Yankees Winner in World Series

Overpower Giants to Take Final Game Sunday, 4 to 2

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees overpowered the Giants Sunday in a booming finish to the second successive all-New York World Series. The Yankees won, 4 to 2, on a rain-drenched field in the fifth and final game which ended Gomez's record-setting streak of 16 consecutive games after Mel Ott's homer tied the score in the third inning.

The triumph by the Yankees, four games to one, marked the second straight conquest of their neighboring rivals, their fifth successive victory in baseball's big-money battle and their sixth since the war. They won previously in 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925.

This set an all-time record. The Yankees broke a tie with the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics, each of whom was victorious in five world series. The champions of the world now have captured 20 of their last 23 series games and there's no club in either league that, in two years, has come close to challenging their supremacy.

Fifth Victory For Gomez

Gomez was the hero of the decisive game as the Yankees scored all their runs off the Cliff Melton, Giants' freshman who failed for the second time in the series. Five of the eight Yankees went for extra bases, including a double, two triples and two home runs. But Gomez enjoyed the distinction of leading home the winning run with a single as he repeated his opening game triumph over the Giants.

By winning two contests Gomez ran his World Series record to five victories with no defeats. He beat the Cubs once in 1932 and the Giants twice last year. He is now tied in the record books with Jack Coombs and Herb Ehmke, each of whom posted five victories without a setback.

Despite penetrating chilly weather and rain that ceased only an hour before the game began, a crowd of 38,216 turned out to see whether the Giants, after making a winning stand behind Cliff Melton Saturday, could produce the upset. With the park less than two-thirds filled, the gate receipts just failed to touch the million-dollar mark. The total for five games amounted to $285,904.

Giants Punt In Pinches

The Giants, even though they couldn't match the Yankee power, made it close. They outdid the Yankees, 10 to 8, but except for Ott's homer in the right-field stands in the third, with Dick Bartell on base, the National Leagueers were unable to produce a scoring touch despite repeated opportunities.

Home runs by Hoag into the right-field stands in the second and by DiMaggio in the third, on a drive that hit the upper roof near the left-field line, put the Yankees off in front. Melton fanned five batters in the first three innings.

After Ott's smash tied the score, Larry Lazarus started the winning outburst in the fifth with a 450-foot triple to center. Hank Leiber made a desperate try for the ball but it carried off his elevated hand and bounced against the bleacher barrier. Gomez then hit a single off Whitehead's glove to bring Lazarus across.

Gomez advanced when Red Ruff walked and scored on Lou Gehrig's double to center. Another pass, to Bill Dickey, filled the bases but Melton pulled himself out of the jam by retiring Hoag on a foul to Danning.

tax returns showed that 23 persons had incomes between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000; eight between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000; two between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000; seven between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000; and one between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000.

There was not one person in the top income bracket of $5,000,000 or more in 1935. In 1934, one taxpayer was reported in this bracket.

The report showed that in Arkansas there were 11,835 income tax returns in 1935 compared with 12,218 in 1934. On net income of $13,551,000 in 1935, $797,000 was paid in taxes, compared with income of $8,886,000 and taxes of $620,000 in 1934.

The 41 persons in the 1935 million-dollar group had aggregate net income of $55,633,000 and paid $11,000,000 in income taxes. In 1934, the 22 persons with incomes of $1,000,000 or more had net incomes of $37,774,000 and paid $2,212,100 in taxes.

Persons with incomes ranging between $100,000 and $150,000 were the biggest contributors in both 1935 and 1934, paying $24,125,000 and $28,166,000 in the respective years.

In the lowest-bracket classifications, individuals with incomes of less than $5,000 paid $10,234,000 in taxes. For 1935, compared with $14,685,000 in 1934.

The Treasury said that 4,575,012 persons filed income tax returns during 1935, had $14,998,812,000 in net income and paid $857,479,000 in taxes. This compared with 4,094,420 persons, $12,790,802,000 of net income and $811,400,000 in taxes in 1934.

Saltwater were a conspicuous feature of the annual net income figures. The chief source of income in both years was farming, $9,940,478,000 in 1935 and $8,600,164,000 in 1934.

Medwick Wins Almost Every Batting Title

NE YORK (AP)—If it's any news to anyone, the final unofficial averages for the National League reveal Duke (Ducky) Medwick, clarinet outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, walked off with practically every batting title of any consequence.

In winning the batting title with an average of .374, Medwick scored the most runs, 111, made the most hits, 237, most doubles, 51, drove in the most runs, 154, and tied Mel Ott of the Giants for home-run honors with 31.

Excellent Recipes for Apple Week

8-Million-Dollar Arkansas Industry Seeks Wider Market

Governor Carl E. Bailey has proclaimed the week of October 10-16 as "Arkansas Apple Week."

The big reason for this is that commercial apple growers in Arkansas with an investment of $8,000,000 in 1,250,000 trees covering 35,000 acres, are faced with the problem of finding a market for 450,000 bushels of apples of the highest quality and grade that they have produced in many years.

Arkansas varieties include, Grimes, Golden, Red and Golden Delicious, Ben Davis, Gano, Arkansas Blacks, and Winesaps. These varieties are not surpassed in quality anywhere in the United States. Many organizations have already pledged themselves to advertise Arkansas apples, buy Arkansas apples, and eat Arkansas apples this fall. Hotels and restaurants, grocers and chain stores are co-operating. Business and civic organizations, state institutions, and educational groups are helping. Housewives are being asked to avail themselves of Arkansas apples for salads, sauce, canning, apple butter and pies.

According to Gertrude E. Conant, Extension Nutritionist, apples are a good food that can be obtained when other fruits and vegetables are hard to get. They are a good source of the health-giving vitamins A, B, C, and G, and also contain the important minerals—lime, phosphorus and iron. A large part of the apple crop is eaten raw, but they have many culinary uses that make them suitable for every meal in the day.

There is no better spread for bread than apple butter, when it is carefully made. The following recipe is more than one hundred years old.

Old Fashioned Apple Butter

4 gallons apples (pared, quartered, and cored)
1 gallon sweet cider
4 pint light brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon and 1 teaspoon allspice.

Boil the cider until it is reduced one half. Add the apples and cook slowly until the sauce thickens, stirring to prevent its burning. When it begins to thicken add the sugar and spices mixed together. Cook until thick and smooth. Pour hot into sterilized jars and seal. Process 30 minutes at simmering temperature (180 degrees F.)

Wash the apples and cut in pieces, removing the core. Add enough water to prevent burning and cook until the apples are tender. Rub through a colander to remove the skins. Sweeten to taste. The amount of sugar depends upon the tartness of the apples. Fill sterilized fruit jars with the hot sauce. Seal, and process 15 minutes in boiling water.

The Old Whaler

Captain David Jonathan Barnett, famed whaling commander, who has spent 54 of his 76 years in whale hunting, and who is bringing to Hope, Saturday, October 16th his huge 88-ton prize catch "Colossus" a 55-foot whale, recently caught off the coast of Southern California. The monster whale, was the hero or victim of an epic sea battle, with the "Killer Ship Hercules," commanded by Captain Barnett, but the capture was a high spot in the life of the old whaler. Now mounted on a specially built railroad car, said to be the largest railroad car ever built, "Colossus" is being hauled to thousands of interested spectators. The huge railroad car is a complete marine museum of all the odd denizens of the seven seas, and has a second feature attraction in "Sea Tiny the Mermaid," apparently the living answer to that old question "Do mermaids really exist?" The exhibit will be spotted for one day at the Missouri Pacific depot and will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m.

ing dish and cover the bottom with a layer of apples. Dot with butter and sprinkle lightly with sugar. (Do not use more than 2 tablespoons of sugar to 4 apples.) Contain until the dish is full; then cover it and bake slowly until the apples are tender (test with a fork.)

Hot Pork With Apples

Prepare the roast and cook in oven at about 300 degrees F., allowing 30 minutes to the pound. About 30 minutes before removing the roast from the oven, surround it with apples that have been washed, cored, and scored through the skin with a sharp knife midway between the stem and blossom ends. This prevents them from "popping" open. Baste the apples with the liquor in the pan two or three times while they are roasting. Serve around the roast on the platter.

Apple Rolls

Make a rich biscuit dough using 2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 5 tablespoons fat and 3/4 cup sweet milk. Roll out in rectangular shape to 1/4 inch thickness. Pare and core 4 tart apples and chop finely. Spread the dough with a layer of apples. Sift over the apples 1/2 cup sugar with 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg. Roll the dough up like a jelly roll and cut in slices 1/2 inch thick. Place in well-greased muffin pans to bake. Serve hot with cream, hard sauce, or lemon sauce.

Apple Up-Side Down Cake

Pare, quarter, and core 6 tart apples. Slice them and cover the bottom

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon butter
2 tablespoons cornstarch, or 2 1/2 tablespoons flour
Pinch salt
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon.
Mix the sugar, salt, flour, or cornstarch, together and add slowly to the boiling water. Boil 10 minutes, then add the lemon juice and rind, the butter and nutmeg.

Brown Betty

6 tart apples
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sweet milk.
Melt the butter and add the crumbs, stirring until they have absorbed all the butter. Mix the sugar and cinnamon together. Pare and core and chop the apples. Butter a baking dish and cover the bottom with a layer of apples. Add part of the sugar and cinnamon and part of the crumbs. Repeat until the dish is full and then add the milk. The top layer should be crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown and serve hot with vinegar or lemon sauce.

Vinegar Sauce

Make like lemon sauce, using 1/4 cup vinegar instead of the lemon juice and rind.

Radio to Conduct School of Future

Will Be Just as Many Teachers, But Perhaps Fewer Books

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

AP Feature Service Writer

It's 1947. Forty children are in a class room, scribbling busily on arithmetic problems. The teacher is scribbling too. Now and then all pause, listen, then scribble some more. Twenty blocks away, 40 more children are working on the same problems. In a suburb of the city, still more children are busy at the same work.

And it's all because of radio. The arithmetic lesson is being dictated over the air to all schools at the same time.

Chicago Sets Example

Maybe it won't even take ten years for this to come about, asserts Frank Ernest Hill, of the Adult Education Association, who has just completed a study of radio in education.

In fact, some schools, mainly those in Rochester, New York, and Cleveland already have introduced—tentatively—the broadcasting of classroom problems by radio. And alert Chicago school principals, during the recent influenza outbreak, arranged for stay-at-home children to keep up with their work with daily broadcasts. So far, however, radio classroom work has been a novelty. Children have heard all kinds of supplemental work over the air, mainly orchestral programs and speakers.

"Packed With Dynamite"

But, says Mr. Hill, the 1947 air curriculum will include fundamental instruction as well as supplemental work.

"Education by radio is just packed with dynamite," he exclaimed enthusiastically upon his return from a national tour of broadcasting stations. "Cleveland has already petitioned the federal communications commission to set aside frequencies for their schools' use."

School programs of the future will be broadcast over short wave frequencies from a central point, he says, because commercial stations cannot give enough time to schools.

May Displace Books

The new field will not reduce the number of teachers by any means. Mr. Hill hastens to add. Even more may be needed, since radio requires teachers who have pleasing voices as well as specialized knowledge.

Teachers still will be needed in classrooms to check up on students' work, since the pupils can't talk back to the radio.

Books may be displaced to some extent, Mr. Hill thinks. But he says that is not a serious matter. Spelling is spelling, whether you learn it from a book or from the air waves. And reference books are always needed.

Will this new educational method make teachers lazy? No, answers Mr. Hill, they will have to work harder. They will have to do the problems with their pupils. No relaxation for them when the radio is turned on.

of an enameled or aluminum baking pan. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup brown sugar mixed with 1/2 teaspoon of cinnamon or nutmeg. Pour over the apples a batter made as follows: Cream together 4 tablespoons fat (either butter or compound), and 1/2 cup sugar. Add 1 whole egg and beat until light. Then add 1/2 cup milk and 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt sifted together. Bake until the apples are tender. Cut and serve bottom side up. This may be served hot with whipped cream or a hard sauce.

Dutch Apple Cake

Make a batter as for Up-Side Down Cake. Pour into a shallow pan. Pare, quarter, and core tart apples and cut the quarters into wedge-shaped pieces. Place the apples on top of the batter in rows, pressing the thin edge of the wedge down to the bottom of the pan. Mix together 3 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg and sift over the top of the cake. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. until the apples are tender. Serve hot with whipped cream or lemon sauce. Use apples that cook quickly.

Apple Garnish

These apples are used to garnish a roast duck or goose. Select medium small apples. Pare and core them and let them stand about 30 minutes in water having 1 tablespoon of soda to 1 gallon of water. This keeps them whole.

Boil 2 cups of sugar with 2 cups of water for 5 minutes. Add a dozen "red hots" (cinnamon candies). Cook the apples slowly in the colored syrup until they are tender and well colored. Part of the apples may be colored green with cake coloring.

Apple Shortcake

Make apple sauce with tart apples, cooking it down until thick. Then sweeten to taste and flavor with cinnamon or nutmeg. Spread on top of shortcake made with plain rich biscuit dough. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Apple Cranberry Nectar

1 large apple
1 orange
1 cup cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 1/4 cups water
Pinch salt.

Boil the sugar, water, and salt 10 minutes, then add the apple that has been pared, quartered and cored, and cook 8 minutes. Then add the orange that has been washed, cut in quarters lengthwise and sliced thin (remove the orange seeds) and the cup of cranberries. Cook till the cranberries are soft.

Square Dancing Is Mormon Revival

Old-Time Dancing More Sociable Than Modern Steps, Their View

By the AP Feature Service

SALT LAKE CITY.—In this "dance-iest city in America" the Church of Latter Day Saints has set out to socialize ballroom behavior.

"For a long time we have felt that modern dancing, limited almost exclusively to waltzes and fox trots, does not provide the opportunities for friendliness, poise and culture that were found in the more complex dances of older times," explains gray-haired W. O. Robinson, who has directed dance activities of the Mormons for 12 years and is leading the new movement.

Says Robinson: "Young people who dance with but one partner, then sit in a corner for a while and hold hands, and then dance again are not cultivating the best principles of sociability. In a way, you see, modern dancing is really not social dancing at all."

He has designed three new dances—the Dream Waltz, Gold and Green Caprice, a swingy square dance and the Aloha Oe fox trot. By November he expects they will be well established at church socials "and we believe their influence will spread beyond the church."

Accidents Are Stopped by First Aid Station

For a year now, since the Red Cross signs have been beside the pavements, there have been no accidents of consequence.

"We have observed that a majority of drivers slow down when they see the Red Cross signs," says F. E. Greenwood, safety director in charge of the station.

Beware The Cough That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many cough remedies, such as Eucalypti, Pine Compounds with Tar, and fluid extract of Licorice Root, but it also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote, perfectly blended with all of these so that it will reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use Creomulsion in their own families, realizing that this excellent preparation aids nature to soothe the inflamed mucous membranes, to neutralize irritated tissues, and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion "tops" for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible, and active in going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is generally found satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritation, especially those stubborn ones that start as just a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained from the very first bottle of Creomulsion. Don't worry through another sleepless night—use Creomulsion. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product, and the relief that you want. (Adv.)
